A contemporary European theatre co-creation laboratory

We are searching for additional partners for collaboration in the “MAKE A MOVE” project. We will submit the project to the Creative Europe, European cooperation projects 2018 call for proposals (Category 1 – Small scale projects), deadline January 18, 2018.

The Challenge

Contemporary theatre includes a variety of art genres such as physical theatre, corporeal mime and improvisational theatre. Very few of them, however, have made it into the mainstream cultural institutions. Most remain marginalized to the world of small independent cultural operators who lack the capacities and resources to scale their activities and bring them to a wide audience.

Project Concept

The goal of the ‘Make a Move’ project is to create a sustainable transnational co-creation and capacity building structure for European cultural operators active in the field of movement-based theatre, in the process raising the visibility of non-institutionalized theatre practices and celebrating the role of ‘Theatre du geste’ in the European as soon as possible cultural heritage.

Key Project Activities

- » develop and pilot an innovative incubating environment (a co-creation laboratory) in which at least 5 theatre companies from 5 different Creative Europe program countries will grow their production proposals from the stage of creative ideas to the stage of a full international production
- » create capacity building tools and practices that will constitute a blueprint for the activities of a sustainable theatre Incubator
- » raise awareness about the role of non-institutionalised theatre practices and their place in European intangible cultural heritage and increase their visibility

Project Partner Tasks

- » Participate in capacity building tool development
- » Host a MAKE A MOVE theatre co-creation laboratory session
- » Participate in the communication and dissemination activities
- » Participate in project management activities
